1. INDUSTRY TRAINING

You have access to the best industry skills training for you and your staff.

Through our Registered Training Organisation Civil Train QLD (RTO #5708), CCF QLD ensures that our training programs are developed to meet your needs in terms of effectiveness and quality.

We continually review, refine, develop and expand our programs to be at the forefront of training for the civil construction industry – both now and in the future.

PLUS....members receive 10% off training undertaken through Civil Train.

2. SHAPE YOUR INDUSTRY

CCF QLD represents the interests of the civil construction industry. You have the ability through CCF QLD to be the voice of your industry and help construct the future.

Effectively representing the interests of the industry to key stakeholders on relevant industry matters is paramount to how we influence the sector you work in.

Working with government at all levels; our aim is to drive improved systems, processes, greater efficiencies and productivity. Connect with us on industry matters so CCF QLD can advocate for industry.

3. ACCESS TO DISCOUNTS

You have access to a range of discounts and offers from our key industry suppliers.

As the leading membership and representative body for the civil industry, our role is to deliver highly valued services that provide real benefits and value to you on a daily basis. CCF QLD will continue to expand and evolve these exclusive offers over time, to save you money as well as deliver greater value for your membership.

4. CONNECTED TO INDUSTRY

Being a member of CCF QLD means you are not just connected to us, but connected to the wider civil construction sector and industry.

Throughout the year, CCF QLD holds a number of events across Queensland in areas including Brisbane, the Gold and Sunshine Coast, Mackay, Townsville and Cairns where members and non-members are invited to network with their industry peers. That means you'll receive vital industry updates from the people making decisions for the civil sector... it's a great way to make sure you're always one step ahead.

Members are also acknowledged for their work and contribution to the industry at our annual Excellence in Civil Construction Awards, where we come together to celebrate and recognise achievements by companies and individuals.

What's more - members receive discounted event tickets.

The primary purpose of the CCF Code is to assist contractor businesses in achieving and maintaining compliance relevant to industry standards and regulations, required by federal and/or state authorities.

The code draws together elements of quality, work health and safety and environmental management in one system.

Accredited by the Joint Accreditation System of Australia and New Zealand (JAS-ANZ) for third party certification, the code is designed to be used in isolation of, or in combination with other certification standards such as ISO.

The CCF Code is supported by a Management System Document Suite designed to help businesses manage their compliance with the CCF Code.

Members have access to the CCF Code V10 at a discounted rate.

5. CERTIFICATION

You have access to advice and support from experts in a range of specialised areas and topics within the civil construction industry.

These include work health and safety (WHS), environment and sustainability, careers, skill development and training, IR/HR, legal advice, TMR, diversity, local government and drone technology.

It is often difficult to know where to go when a question or issue arises. It might be “what are my obligations” or “how do I get accreditation”?

These experts are available to assist you - helping to find solutions to many of the everyday issues that arise, which can impact your business.

6. EXPERT INDUSTRY ADVICE

CCF QLD provides a platform for you to promote your business and services to the people who need them the most.

We provide a wide range of communication channels for you to promote your business, products and services to the people who need them the most. These include event sponsorship, our quarterly magazine QLD: INSIGHT, eNews, CCF QLD website and the Contractors' and Suppliers' Guide.

Regardless of your budget or desired level of industry exposure, we have a solution for you.

7. INDUSTRY EXPOSURE

Keep up-to-date with important industry news and developments that matter to you and your business.

Information is power, so as a vital part of what we do at CCF QLD, we make sure we're always across the industry issues that may affect our members.

You can be confident you will always be kept informed about these important issues through regular updates delivered via eNews, the CCF QLD website, social media, member face-to-face visits and the CCF QLD quarterly magazine QLD: INSIGHT.

CCF QLD continues to establish a range of industry committees focusing on the following topics: Work Health and Safety, Diversity in Civil Construction, Environmental and Sustainability, Local Government, IR/HR and CCF QLD - TMR Technical Committee Working Group.

These committees give a forum for members and the specialists within these organisations to join together with other professionals and discuss issues relating to the civil construction industry.

Committees are an effective way of getting member feedback to be used in our policy and advocacy activity delivered to government and key stakeholders.

To ensure you get the most out of your membership. A member of the client services team is available to engage with your organisation in a number of ways.

Membership engagement visits are a chance for CCF QLD to update you on any key issues currently affecting the civil construction industry and also enable you the opportunity to give feedback, or advise us on any concerns you have on industry matters.

Project site visits invite CCF QLD to visit your project site where you can showcase your businesses capabilities, innovations and practices.

Community BBQ's are hosted by CCF QLD at one of your sites in order to raise awareness of a specific topic eg. R U OK? Day, International Men's Day, World Environment Day, where you can talk about the topic over a BBQ.
